My father is a merchant in the marketplace. He sells cloth and ornaments. Some of his goods are made in our city-state, and he gets other goods from traders from far away. Sometimes my mother and I help him on market days. I help my mother tend our animals, clean, and prepare meals. Our family in the middle class. We have some beautiful things in our house from my father's business. I like the busy best because it is fun to see all people.
